We welcome you to join us for the
4th International Conference on Microbial Food & Feed Ingredients - MiFFI2025

The MiFFI conference constitutes a unique venue for networking between academia and industry within the field of microbial food and feed ingredients. Here, the newest research from laboratories across the universities and industry is shared in an informal atmosphere along with company representatives connecting with delegates and colleagues around science and business.

An environment where high-quality research meets business attracts key stakeholders essential to your sponsorship success. MiFFI2025 satisfies the need to connect at all levels independently on, whether you need to reach industrial research and development, business strategy specialists, or university scientists.

By supporting the MiFFI2025 conference you will

- ✓ Gain access to the newest high-quality science within the specific field of microbial ingredients
- ✓ Connect with influential stakeholders across academia and industry
- ✓ Generate news leads and reconnects with existing contacts
- ✓ Gain visibility and build brand awareness
- ✓ Expand your network and discover new business and partnership opportunities

Congress key topics

The terms microbial food and feed ingredients are to be understood in their broadest sense. This means that the conference will encompass e.g.:

- ✓ Microorganisms in food and feed
- ✓ Enzymes for food and feed applications
- ✓ Microbially derived bioactive compounds
- ✓ Plant-based fermented foods
- ✓ Applications of cultures, enzymes, and metabolites
- ✓ Probiotics for today and for the future

- ✓ The human microbiome and health
- ✓ Microbial feed ingredients for improved animal performance
- ✓ Regulatory aspects of novel food and feed ingredients
- ✓ Future trends.

Microorganisms have been employed for these purposes since ancient times without exhausting the opportunities.

Join us for the MiFFI2025 Conference! We look forward to welcoming you to Copenhagen.

On behalf of the organizing committee,

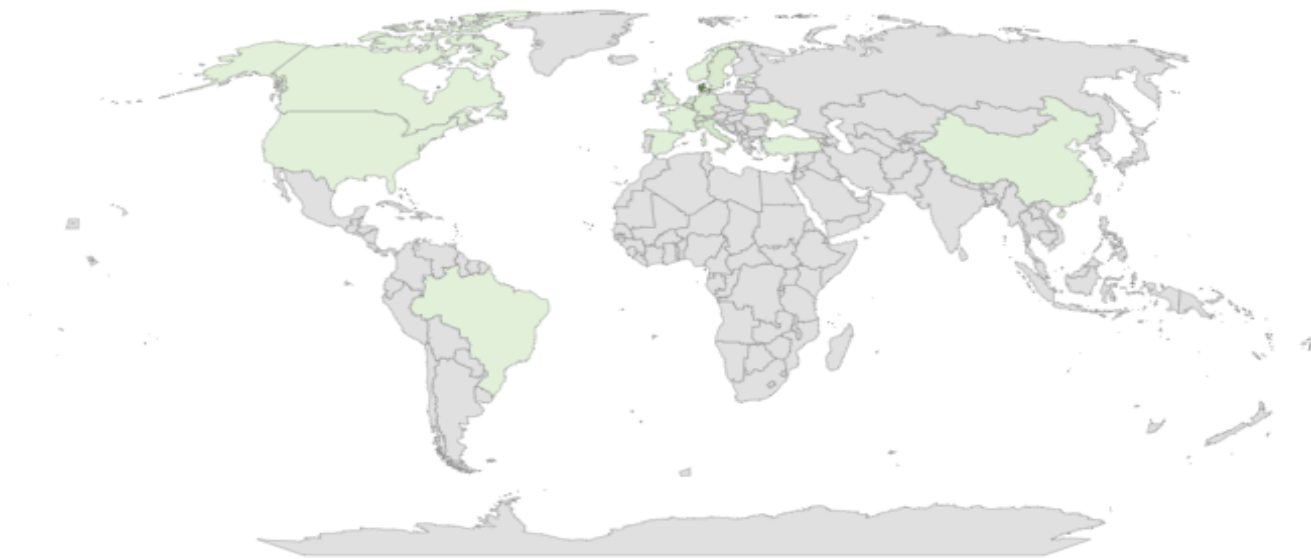

Prof. Dennis Sandris Nielsen
University of Copenhagen
